IT Support & Cybersecurity Firm Opens in Manassas

In the continued trend of tech companies locating to the City of Manassas, cybersecurity and IT support services firm Quad M Tech has opened a new office near Historic Downtown Manassas. The company, which started in 2017, opened its 10-person (and growing) operation in the 9300 W. Courthouse Road building.

Quad M Tech is an IT solutions provider focused on education and cybersecurity preparation for companies that have sensitive data, including government contractors and small businesses. “Malicious digital activity is a growing risk for smaller companies,” says CEO William Price. “Quad M Tech focuses not just on the IT behind cyber security, but educating our clients' employees to be a first line of defense. Being in Manassas puts our team in the heart of our client base and in a growing business community that we're excited to support."

Additionally, Quad M Tech specializes in Cybersecurity Maturity Model Certification (CMMC) preparedness for government contractors, the defense industrial base, and doing business with Department of Defense.
